

VISITING SCHOLARS & FELLOWS PROGRAM LUKSIC SCHOLARSHIP

THE CENTER

Founded in 1994, the David Rockefeller Center for Latin American Studies at Harvard University works to increase knowledge of the cultures, economies, histories, environment, and contemporary affairs of past and present Latin America.

THE PROGRAM

Each year the Center selects a number of distinguished academics (Visiting Scholars) and professionals (Fellows) who wish to spend one or two semesters at Harvard working on their own research and writing projects.

The Luksic Fellowship was created through the generous donations by Andrónico Luksic Craig and is exclusively available to scholars and practitioners from Chile.

Applications from those with their own resources are also welcome.

Visiting Scholars and Fellows are provided shared office space, computers, library privileges, access to University facilities and events, and opportunities to audit classes and attend seminars. The residential fellowships cover round-trip travel expenses, health insurance, and a taxable $25,000 stipend while at Harvard.. Recipients are expected to spend a minimum of one semester at the University.

APPLICATIONS DUE FEBRUARY 1ST

THE APPLICATION

Applications should be submitted electronically to drc_vsf@fas.harvard.edu or via the online application form. For the form and further details please visit <http://www.drclas.harvard.edu> and click on Visiting Scholars.
